ALEHM in association with the University of Birmingham is presenting a one day training course for EHPs interested in extending/refreshing their knowledge of the approval process under Regulation (EC) 853/2004.

The course will be taught by Iain Ferris, Teaching Fellow in Food Safety, Food Standards and Food Law at The University of Birmingham.

Tea and coffee will be provided but lunch is not included. There are numerous outlets available close to the Town Hall. Location details can be found here <https://www.wandsworth.gov.uk/location>

Candidates are asked to bring their own copy of Regulation (EC) 853/2004 and associated guidance SANCO/1732/2008/Rev.7.

Cost Alehm members £130, non-members £180

We anticipate a high demand for this course so please contact Kath Lewis at admin@alehm.gov.uk to book. Initially we are taking bookings for 1 place per borough until 30th November, when reserves will be offered any available places.

If you would be interested in a future course, please also let Kath know as we may run it again if there is sufficient interest.
